688 St. Clarens Ave., Toronto, Ontario Canada M6H 3X1.

Phone: 416 539-8129 E-mail: dyan@dyanmarie.com Website: www.dyanmarie.com

Dyan Marie is a multi-disciplinary artist with a history of work in sculpture, public art, art interventions and art organizations, teaching as well as curating and art writing. She co-founded the visual arts magazine C in 1984 and was the founder of Cold City Gallery in 1986. She also founded ARTATWORK, Urban Surface, DIG IN: Dupont Improvement Group and directs her project and gallery space: Dupont/Dyan Marie Projects. Her work is exhibited in artist run centers, public galleries and she is presented by Wynick Tuck Gallery in Toronto..

ARTIST STATEMENT:

I explore urban issues, ideas and reflections on contemporary cultural experience with projects that engage and support local communities and advance initiatives to create – public art, community art, new public space and new green space – as vehicles for urban vitalization.

Selected Community-based Art Projects, Interventions and Initiatives

2006, “Green Spots”: Billboard painting in/with GSpots graffiti persona. Bloor and Lansdowne, Toronto

2006 “Bloor Gardens”: Six out-door urban painting projects, vine people and related painting exhibition “The Paint Jam” at DMP, Toronto

2003 - 06 “Walk Here”, A community and public artwork that helps revitalize, green and connect Dupont West neighbourhoods in Toronto, by creating an art-embedded walking system throughout the at-risk community that pulls it together as a place and reconnects the area to the city at large. Walk Here won the City of Toronto’s Green and Beautiful Award. see www.walkhere.org

The Tile Project:

Over 100 artist, from 40 nations contribute to the Tile Project installed in Walk Here, Wallace Emerson site.

Walking Walk Here:

Local children’s drawings that considered neighbourhood surroundings, environmental issues and ways to use parks were developed as stainless steel cut-outs and installed in the Walk Here walkway.

Constellation:

Bronze cast relief sculptures seed the surface of the Walk Here walkway based on drawings developed from participating artist contributors Vera Frenkel, Monica Tap, Dyan Marie, Lois Andison, Tony Shermann, Margaret Priest, John McKinnon, Ants Reigo, Blue Republic, Dionne Simpson, Snaige Sileika, Eldon Garnet, Guy Walter and Shelley Adler

Contained:

Garbage - what it contains, how it’s packaged, its chemical make-up, consuming and recycling ideas and observations, appreciation of design and shape: discarded pop bottles, water bottles, soap containers provided a starting point for this public/community art work. Garbage containers were filled with recycled glass, mirrors and cement then cut in half and installed in the Walk Here walkway to appear as beautiful reminders.

2004, “Look Out: Look Here: Holly Jones Project”, developed event and exhibition to respond to the brutal murder of local neighbourhood girl, Holly Jones. 250 camera distributed to Holly’s family, classmates and surrounding community to encourage their re-engagement in the neighbourhood, Dupont Projects, Toronto, more information see www.lookoutlookhere.info

2004, “Bloor/Dupont West Festival”, nine events including exhibitions at The Massage Gallery (reclaimed massage parlor) “Blind Spot” with UofT

other events at Campbell Ave Park House and Dupont Projects, Toronto see www.digin.ca for event list. also festivals for 2005 and 2006

2003, "About Here", artists, architects, landscape architects and community residents develop and exhibit neighbourhood ideas, plans and observations to focus and influence development direction, Dupont Projects, Toronto

2002 Dupont | Dyan Marie Projects:

Developed a project and gallery space focused on the exploration, support and advancement of the cultural, urban space as considered through visual community and public art, architecture, urban planning, landscape architecture, photography. Founder and on-going director. See www.dyanmarieprojects.com

2002 DIG IN: Diversified Initiatives Guide for Improving Neighborhoods,

Developed an urban intervention art project and a cultural and community initiative to provide a troubled urban neighborhoods with a renewal plan and an enactment guide. "Urban Intervention Community and Cultural Ideas Master Plan" exhibited and community-wide meetings at Wallace Emerson Community Center, Perth Dupont Library and the Portuguese Sporting Club

2003 DIG IN: Dupont Improvement Group, a community improvement group was established to support the plan and develop on-going community improvement efforts. See www.digin.ca

2001, Art and Health,

Developed an art and health program for health care facilities and applied it to a hospital-wide program at Oshawa General Hospital. The project improved the hospital's atmosphere and worked to link the hospital to the city at large. Commissioned and managed art projects for seven hospital wards, corridors, lobbies and parkland and curated a related exhibition at the McLaughlin Gallery. www.dyanmarie.com/SHOW/artatworkprojects/lhc/index.html

Recent Press Quotes:

The National Post, Jan. 8, 2004

Writes "... Dyan Marie makes the term "Multi - disciplinary artist" seem too easy. One gets the sense that her work is like a watering hole, providing a moment of pause for the tireless and wholly dedicated community master planner. She's like a modest Jane Jacobs, armed with art supplies"

Toronto Star, November 25, 2006

Audio cast... "Dyan Marie is making a tough part of town a smart part of own".

Spacing Magazine, Fall Issue, 2006

Writes... "Dyan Marie has a simple plan for changing neighbourhoods. It starts by walking - in only four years she has already mobilized community residents to build this dream, titled Walk Here".

Globe and Mail, March 25, 2006

Writes... "Toronto-based artist Dyan Marie reserves her project space for the exhibiting of those all-too-rare emblematic moments in contemporary art where the visual world's conventional aesthetic and sociological concerns are joined..."

This Magazine, Nov./Dec.... Issue 2004

Writes "... Dyan Marie's work lies at the junction of art and activism, in recent years, she's acquired a reputation as one of the city's fiercest community advocates.

The Expositor, Oct. 21, 2004

Writes "... Dyan Marie has created a number of art Interventions – interactive exhibitions which tackle inner city ills. "I'm responsive to the environment around me," she says of her extensive experience in public art, "and that informs the works I make."

Globe and Mail, Jan. 24, 2004

Writes "...energetic Toronto-based sculptor, photographer, urban activist and now painter Dyan Marie work relates, in varying ways, to the artist's remarkably fierce and tireless dedication to urban reinvigoration."

Eye, Jan. 8, 2004

Writes ... "Marie consolidates her exploration of the ramifications of development in her work, "Brilliantly and Everything Else"

Canadian Art Magazine, Winter Issue 2004

Writes... "A catalyst for social awareness in this urban intervention by artist Dyan Marie who brings the idea of community to the art world."

Toronto Life, May 2004, Neighbourhoods

"Dyan Marie's passion for the community is contagious. She calls the proposed community walking system "Walk Here", an "art-embedded" walking system, a sort of plein-air gallery with individual works created by local tradespeople and artists. "Our idea is that people can use the park and path as a community centre. It will be a source of pride and indigenous expression."
